THE NEW-YORK DAILY TIMES,
[illegible]
THE NEW-YORK EVENING TIMES
[illegible]
THE SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES
[illegible]
THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES,
[illegible]
THE TIMES FOR CALIFORNIA,
[illegible]
HENRY J. RAYMOND, HARPER & CO., Publishers.

New-York Daily Times.

VOL. IV....NO. 1031. NEW-YORK, SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1855. PRICE TWO CENTS.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE

By Telegraph to the New-York Daily Times.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

Commodore Perry's Loo Choo Islands Treaty.

MOVEMENTS OF THE FREE TRADERS.

PASSAGE OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY BILL.

Large Number of Bills Passed.

Free-Trade Movements—Arrival of General Manning—Loo Choo Island Treaty.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

The Free-Trade men, if they experience any difficulty in getting the Tariff bill of the Committee of Ways and Means through, contemplate introducing a bill simply reducing duties twenty-five per cent, under all the schedules of the Act of 1846.

General McNeil arrived to-night. He has not resigned, but he intends resigning next Fall.

The President has sent to the Senate the treaty with the Government of the Loo Choo Islands, made by Commodore Perry. This treaty is very simple in its provisions.

It guarantees to citizens of the United States who visit the Islands courteous and friendly treatment, and provides that they may purchase what-ever they desire, at reasonable prices.

Ships of the United States are permitted, under the treaty, to go into any of the ports under Loo Choo jurisdiction, for wood and water; but the port of Napa only is opened for purposes of general trade.

Citizens of the United States visiting the Islands in ships are not to be allowed to ramble freely on shore, without surveillance; but if they "violently seize provisions, or take with women, or force people to sell them things," as do any other illegal act, they are subject to arrest by the local authorities, and to be delivered up to the commander of their vessels for punishment.

Pilots to take vessels in and out of port are to be provided by the Government, a pilotage fee of $6 in each case to be charged. If American vessels are wrecked upon the Loo Choo coasts, the local authorities are to afford prompt assistance to save lives and property, the expenses thereof to be reimbursed by the United States.

The price of wood for vessels is fixed at Napa at "2,000 copper cash per thousand catties;" and of water at "600 copper cash," or 43 cents, for one thousand catties, or six barrels full, each containing 30 gallons.

Finally, a burial place for Americans is provided at Tumai.

S.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

SUPREME COURT—Nos. 38 and 39.—James Williams, Administrator, appellant, vs. Robert Oliver's Executors, and John Goodings, Administrator, appellant, vs. Robert Oliver's Executors. Argument commenced by Mr. DULANY for the appellants.

No. 163.—Alfred Savignac, plaintiff in error, vs. Abraham Garrison. The motion to reinstate and for a supersedeas in this cause, was argued by Mr. BAYNES in support, and by Mr. EWING in opposition.

No. 3—Original Docket.—The State of Florida, complainant, vs. The State of Georgia. Argument on the motion to intervene in behalf of the United States was commenced by the Attorney General.

THOMAS BANCE, Esq., of Philadelphia, was admitted to be an Attorney of this Court to-day.

Outstanding Treasury Notes, &c.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

The amount of Treasury Notes outstanding on the 1st of January was $112,561 54.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS....Second Session.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

Mr. SUMNER presented a memorial from the Board of Trade of Boston, asking that the Secretary of the Navy be empowered to send immediately one or more vessels to the relief of Dr. KANE. Referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

The Military Academy bill was then taken up and the amendments reported by the Committee of Finance concurred in, and the bill passed.

Mr. BRADBURY then made a motion, that when the Senate adjourn, it be to Tuesday next, Monday being the 8th of January. Agreed to.

Mr. DOUGLAS endeavored to get the Bounty Land Scrip bill before the Senate, but on suggestion of Mr. CASS it was made the special order of the day for Tuesday next.

The Judicial Bribery bill was then taken up.

Mr. BUTLER spoke in support of the bill.

Mr. DOUGLAS offered a substitute for the bill, and moved to dispense with the reading.

Mr. TOUCEY offered an amendment to make the bill read as follows: Instead of ten Circuit Judges, in order to provide for Oregon. I oppose this amendment with the concurrence of the Committee on the Judiciary. Accepted.

Mr. DOUGLAS—I differ decidedly with the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. I would not have the Judges of the Supreme Court always at Washington. They should have circuits, associate with their Judges as now, and preside with the bar—otherwise they will become mere paper Judges. I would have the Judges also reside, so that in case of a vacancy some clerk would have qualified the year in each of our nine Judicial Districts. I would have an intermediate Court of Appeals between the District and Supreme Court. The Supreme Court, in addition to their duties, should receive the commissions and hold the appointments of Commissioners, hearing and holding questions of the Court of Appeals, and I would apply the same rule of commutation to the District Judges in another name.

Mr. FOOTE to Mr. DOUGLAS—How, by what authority, do you know the labors of the Supreme Court?

Mr. DOUGLAS—The Court of Appeals would prevent many cases from going up to the Supreme Court. An appeal from the District Court to the Circuit Court, the mere assignment of District and Circuit Court Judges, consists of nothing but the Court of Appeals, composed of six Judges—besides, the one having original jurisdiction would be likely to settle the cases definitely, and keep them away from the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court Judges, holding but one Circuit Term per year, instead of several, and that but for two or three months, could spend most of the year at Washington, and have much more leisure than now.

Mr. GWIN submitted a proposition to add another justice to the Supreme Court, and to make California, Oregon and Washington a tenth Circuit.

After Mr. DOUGLAS had submitted his substitute for the bill on Judicial Reform from the committee, Mr. TOUCEY moved to amend the original bill by creating an eleventh circuit on the Pacific.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. CASS was in favor of keeping the Judges in contact with the people, and that two Judges in a District should always sit together. He thought the Supreme Judges should be confined to the Supreme Court seat of Government, and was opposed to their considering anything concerning a case beyond the record.

Mr. CHASE was opposed to a centralization of the Supreme Court, and in favor of the Judges continuing their circuit. He moved to strike out the first section to test the sense of the Senate upon the increase of Judges; but Mr. CLAYTON hoped no test vote would be taken at this state of the bill. And thereupon the Senate adjourned to Tuesday next.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE GIDDINGS, the Delegate from Nebraska, appeared and was qualified by taking the oath to support the Constitution.

Mr. ELLIOTT of Mass. introduced a bill making appropriations for continuing the repairs of injury done at Plymouth Beach. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. WALBRIDGE presented a memorial from the New-York Life Saving Association, and that of all the Marine Insurance Companies of the same City, asking for the fitting out of an expedition for the rescue of Dr. KANE, now in the Arctic zone. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

On motion of Mr. STANTON, of Kentucky, from the Printing Committee, twenty thousand extra copies of the President's Into River and Harbor bill Veto Message, were ordered to be printed—80 against 51.

The House went into Committee on private bills, and subsequently passed fourteen, and adjourned.

STATE AFFAIRS.

Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

CASUALTIES AT FIRES.

NEW-YORK CITY CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

THE CLAIMS OF OUR VETERANS.

Appointment of the Temperance Committee.

CHEAP COAL.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

ALBANY, Saturday, Jan. 5, 1855.

I regret that you did not give the Comptroller's report in full. It is a good document throughout, and makes no very focus at calling things by their right names. Take the two following paragraphs for example:

The late Comptroller, in his last Annual Report, informed the Legislature that "ample means are now provided by increased taxation to discharge all this indebtedness within the years 1854 and 1855, and leave abundant revenue to pay the ordinary expenses of Government."

This confident prediction is not realized by the present, or justified by the probable future condition of the Treasury. Whether "distance lent enchantment" to that functionary's "view," or his hallucination was occasioned by a misapprehension of the necessities of the Government in a question of little importance, since the mere position of a single year have dispelled "fancy's sketch"—adding, as the only practical result, another financial fillip to the impetus which retiring Auditors, Comptroller and subordinates have imparted to their "Report."

A trifle figurative, perhaps, but nevertheless blunt, understandable Saxon, that bears no doubt of its true intent and meaning. It is time that courtly courtesy—official mockery—was abolished, and I cannot but honor the man who frankly tells the people in what manner his predecessors have administered the trusts reposed in them, and who does not hesitate to hold them to public scorn and condemnation. Such a precedent was much needed. It has come at last, and I cannot help but honor the independence and manliness that puts it upon the record.

ASSEMBLY.

In the House this morning, Mr. MUNDAY gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill permitting owners of property on the line of opening streets, power to conduct the said opening at their own expense, without paying commission to the City, subject to the grade of the City Surveyor.

Notice was given of a bill to punish trespasses in orchards and gardens. Not unneeded is something of this kind.

Mr. AITKEN gave notice this morning of his intention to introduce a bill and amend the law relating to mechanics liens.

NEW-YORK CITY CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

In accordance with previous notice, Mr. STUYVESANT introduced his bill to amend the Charter of the City of New-York. It provides:

1. That the Legislative power shall be vested in a Board of Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen.

2. Each Ward to elect one Alderman and one Assistant Alderman.

3. Each Alderman and Assistant to hold office for one year, and no person to be eligible to either office who is not a resident of the Ward from which he is chosen.

4. The election for such officers to take place on the 3d Tuesday in April, and the persons elected to enter upon their office on the 1st Tuesday in May.

5. The first election to take place on the 3d Tuesday in April, 1855.

6. The Aldermen to have power to direct a special election to fill any vacancy that may occur in their Board, and the Assistants like power in case of a vacancy in their Board.

7. Each Board to have power to compel the attendance of members, to punish for contempt, and by a vote of two-thirds to expel.

8. Each Board to fix its time for holding its sessions.

9. No member of either Board to be eligible to any other office of profit, or to be interested in any contract.

10. All ordinary appropriations for the support of the Alms-House Department shall be submitted to a Board of Commissioners, to consist of the Mayor, Recorder, Comptroller, and the Presidents of the Boards of Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen. If they are satisfied with the Commissioners, they shall be reported to the Supervisors; if objected to, they shall be returned to the Ten Governors with a statement of the objections made. If, upon a reconsideration, two-thirds of the Governors shall adhere to their original appropriations, they shall be returned to the Commissioners, who shall report them to the Supervisors.

11. The Board of Education shall in the manner submit all appropriations.

12. No Governor of the Almshouse shall be eligible to any office of profit, the fees of which are paid from the City Treasury, nor be interested in any contract, the cost of which is to be defrayed by the City.

13. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of Mayor, the duties of the office shall be performed by the President of the Board of Aldermen. It shall be the duty of the Mayor:

I. To communicate to the Common Council at least once in each year, a statement of the situation and condition of the City, in relation to its finances and improvement.

II. To make such recommendations for its good government as he may deem expedient.

III. To be vigilant and active in enforcing the laws and ordinances.

IV. To exercise constant supervision and control over the subordinate officers, and to examine all complaints that may be made against them for mal-practice in office.

V. The Mayor, by and with the consent of the Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen, to appoint all heads of departments. A person once rejected shall not be renominated. If a nomination be rejected, and a new nomination be made within fifteen days, or in case no nomination is made within the first Monday in July, the two Boards by a vote shall make such appointment.

14. A vacancy in any office or of any department shall necessarily be filled by one of the previous owners of the property, or some person in full blood.

15. The excise powers now vested in the Mayor, Alderman and Assistant, representing the Ward in which the applicant for license may reside.

16. This act to be submitted for the approval of the electors on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in June, 1855. If a majority of the electors voting approve the same, it shall become a law.

19. The Common Council are authorized to provide for holding all elections directed by this act.

The bill was referred to a Special Committee, consisting of the New-York delegation. It will be noticed that this is a return to the legislative provisions of the old charter.

PREVENTION OF CASUALTIES AT FIRES.

Mr. STUYVESANT also introduced a bill for the prevention of casualties at fires, and to protect the lives of firemen in the discharge of their duties in the City of New-York. It provides:

1. That it shall not be lawful to keep a metallic safe, of more than ten cubic feet, above the ground floor.

2. A violation of the above section to be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, to be prosecuted by the Attorney of the Corporation, for the benefit of the Fire Department. Any safe found above the ground floor to be liable to seizure for the benefit of the Fire Department.

3. The Act not to be construed to affect buildings in which manufacturers store their safes.

This was referred to a Special Committee, consisting of the New-York delegation.

Mr. LEIGH presented his bill to prevent encroachments upon the harbor of New-York. Mr. LEIGH moved its reference to a Select Committee, to consist of the New-York delegation. This was promptly objected to from all parts of the House, and so the bill went its usual way—to the Committee on Commerce and Navigation.

Mr. LEIGH also introduced his bill of last year, preventing the sale of lottery tickets and policies, and the forming of gift lotteries. It concentrates all the pains and penalties known to the code penal.

Mr. COCKS introduced his bill authorizing the Common Council to compel the attendance of witnesses before Committees of Investigation. The necessity for such a law has been severely evidenced on several occasions. Had the proposed enactment received the Legislative sanction two years ago, there would have been some strange testimony brought out in the City of New-York.

Mr. STEBBINS, of Monroe, introduced a bill relative to bequests to charitable and religious associations. It is substantially the same as that introduced by Mr PUTNAM in the Senate.

SECURE BUILDINGS.

Mr. O'KEEFE introduced an act for the better security of lives in the erection of buildings in the City of New-York. The Mayor, Recorder, and City Judge, within fifteen days after the passage of the act, are to appoint three persons to be known as Commissioners of Buildings of the City and County of New-York. These Commissioners shall be practical builders of at least twenty years' experience, and shall present certificates of their qualifications from at least five established builders. They shall hold office for at least six years, unless impeached by the representatives of the Fire Department, and removed by the appointing power. They shall receive a salary of $2,500 per annum. No person shall erect or alter any building that shall in any way conflict with existing fire laws, unless the plans and specifications are first approved by the Commissioners. The Clerk to the Board of Fire Wardens is to act as Clerk to the Commissioners, receiving therefor $500 per annum in addition to his present salary. The Commissioners are also empowered to examine all buildings now erected, and to order such alterations in them as they may deem requisite to make them safe. They are also to examine all buildings in which there are steam engines, boilers, large iron safes, printing presses, furnaces, or heavy machinery of any kind, which shall have a tendency to impair the strength of a building, and grant permits therefor. The Commissioners are to have discretionary powers as to the quality of the mortar used in the erection of brick or stone walls. The Fire Wardens are to inspect all buildings being altered or erected, to see that the specifications of the Commissioners are strictly complied with. The number of Fire Wardens is increased to sixteen, and their salary fixed at $750 per annum. They shall devote their whole time to the performance of their duties, and shall be subordinate to the Commissioners. No building shall hereafter be erected within the fire limits, except for the purposes of a dwelling, which shall exceed sixteen feet in height, unless the walls are at least twelve inches thick, and no building of more than fifty feet high, unless the walls be at least sixteen inches thick.

[illegible]

Cities and Villages—Messrs. Spencer, Yost, Walker. Banks—Messrs. Sherrill, Spencer, Barnard.

Both branches have agreed to adjourn over until Monday. Sensible Senate, considerate House—accept the united thanks of appreciative peoples. J. H. S.

Abstract of the Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The introductory portion contains the statistics of persons within the schools, age, number of districts, attendance, expenditure, &c., the leading items of which were stated in the Governor's Message. The whole amount expended for school purposes in 1853, was $2,668,600 26. The visitation of schools by the Town Superintendents averaged by once and half per annum to a district, and may be regarded as purely nominal.

The fixed contribution of $800,000, raised by State tax for the support of schools, it is argued must be increasingly inadequate with the growth of population. If enlarged to $864,000, which would make it correspond with the increase in the number of persons entitled to tuition, an addition of 8 per cent. additional tax would to less than half of the additional ability to meet it, the aggregate assessed valuation of the State having increased 17½ per cent. since the tax was voted.

The Superintendent concurs heartily in the justice of the recommendations of those who have urged a mill-tax, but recognizes the fact that the present period of depression in the industry of the country is peculiarly inauspicious to the success of such a recommendation. He is more readily reconciled to a postponement of this measure from the conviction that a comparatively small sum expended in securing, by proper system of supervision, the judicious and effective administration of the sum already granted, would do more for the extension and advancement of education than the largest appropriation that has been sought, without such supervision.

Great inequalities result from the distribution under the existing law of $851,261 94, equally to all the districts, without regard to their population. It encourages the formation of small and feeble districts, by a premium for the division already not strong enough to secure the greatest economy and the best classification in the schools. It induces continued efforts on the part of those who suffer by it to secure special legislation to cure the evil in their own locality. Thus the Poughkeepsie charter authorizes the counting of every 75 persons of school age as a district. While Utica, which is now but one district, would, upon such a basis, be counted as 93, and would gain over $3,700 per annum. Recommends the adoption of some general rule for estimating districts by population, where their territorial boundaries are not marked.

The act for the formation of Union Free Schools is operating very beneficially, though, from its provisions not being generally understood, very few districts have as yet consolidated under it. They are admirable as the media of voluntary transition from the present system to that of entirely free education for all, in advance of compulsory legislation, and should receive every practicable encouragement. The necessity of more ample provision for the pre-eminent training of teachers, aside from their general education, is strongly urged. The existing agencies for this purpose are the State Normal School, teachers' departments in the academies, and Teachers' Institutes in the Counties. The Normal School has in ten years turned out 700 pupils, who completed the prescribed course and received diplomas, at an average cost to the State of about $120 each. Including them there have been in attendance for a longer or shorter time, 2,000 pupils, whose instruction has cost an average of about $45 each. The graduates are doing service directly in their labors and indirectly in educating others. A large proportion of the pupils enlist permanently in the profession of teaching, while many, after tarrying in this State, have taken prominent educational positions in nearly every State of the Union. The Superintendent recommends a higher standard of qualifications for admission; that the education may be made more strictly professional, and less of a general character; that the term be increased to one year, instead of existing basis, which is too short for embarrassed, and gives a clear and comprehensive view of what is important to control and to think.

The Teachers' Department in the Academies has been established at a cost of $22,500 in the last four years, for the instruction of 5,625 pupils, a period of four months each. The cost per each pupil is very nearly equal—regard being had to the time of instruction—to that of the Normal School, which is reason to conclude as approximating to the general capacity for the value of the results. The system is liable to great abuses, from the facility of inveigling any pupils, whatever their qualifications, into the academies, for the purpose of drawing the fund, to a greater or less extent, to secure bounty to ordinary academical pupils. With proper safeguards in this respect, the Superintendent believes the appropriation may be advantageously continued, and that the value of the institution cannot be overrated in stimulating the cause equally by reducing the difficulties in the way of their professional improvement arising from the isolation of their spheres of labor. The Superintendent recommends that increased appropriation for their maintenance, and to secure their instruction in the theory and practice of teaching, be made more economically diffused by a Board of experienced and inexperienced teachers sending them to lectures, &c., at the Institutes, than by collecting the teachers in normal schools. Many thousands of teachers would thus acquire a knowledge of the best modes of instruction and discipline, and apply them immediately in the school. This plan has been sanctioned by experience in Massachusetts. He also recommends giving the sanction of law to Teachers' Associations by a general act providing for their incorporation.

The Superintendent recommends the simplification of the school machinery, and a more efficient organization of the district officers. The annual District meeting should be held at a fixed and uniform time throughout the State. The first Tuesday of October is suggested. Four plans are suggested for the purpose of securing a more efficient supervision, that of Assembly District Superintendents, County Superintendent, School District and Judicial District Superintendence. That of County Superintendent is recommended by the conventions and numerous reports of all the State Superintendents since 1841, and the recommendation is again renewed. The want of the supervision contemplated in the act to appoint examiners which was then enacted, is great, often compulsatory. The class here come when every boy of a system so imperfect in its operation, and so inadequate to the demands of the 1,100,000 children, should come, and instruct the children of the Commonwealth.

Under the head of Colleges and Academies the Report takes the ground that the State should create a liberal general and uniform system for raising means of the money in the State, and that they should be made upon a vague assertion that it is a value belonging to the State in return, and that become the consideration of a definite contract for respective services, so to be rendered that they shall accrue to the benefit of the whole people and not of a limited class. In the consideration of the plan proposed in the last Report of the Superintendent of Common Schools, providing for the ability to give free tuition to a number of pupils proportionate to the money they receive from the State, who are to receive a State appointment to the academy on the basis for excellence in the common branches, to be ascertained by examination, &c., pupils, the City, in the manner free education, should be granted in a corresponding ratio

[illegible]

[illegible] Sunday they are about rechild [illegible] Kinkerman Bay are [illegible] the Frenchmen are in [illegible] CHESNEY gives that gay [illegible] Corps. [illegible] Cost [illegible] Cost [illegible] Cost

[illegible]

[illegible] TUESDAY, JAN. 5, 1855.

[illegible] TIMES (Morning and Evening) [illegible] any street Newsboy, or mailed to any part of the country at SIX DOLLARS per annum.

[illegible] WEEKLY TIMES is published on Thursday morning of each week, containing all the reading matter of the Daily, and is sent to subscribers at TWO DOLLARS per annum.

The WEEKLY TIMES containing a selection from the leading matter of the Daily, and is sent to subscribers at TWO DOLLARS per annum. This Copies will be sent for FOUR DOLLARS.

Remittances in all cases must be made in advance.

Congressional.

The Senate yesterday passed the Military Academy bill, making appropriations, and, after a long debate on the Judicial Reform bill, adjourned over to Tuesday. The House was occupied in considering private bills, and, after passing fourteen, adjourned.

Affairs of Spain.

A correspondence of much interest has recently been published in Madrid. It dates from the time of the ill-fated LOPEZ expedition, and consists of a letter from NARVAEZ, with a reply to it by Louis BONAPARTE. The first Minister-President informs the then President of the French Republic of the intended descent of LOPEZ and his followers upon Cuba, and expresses the hope that France will assist her Catholic Majesty in repelling any such lawless aggressions on her dominions. Louis NAPOLEON's answer informs the Marshal that three French line-of-battle ships have been dispatched to protect the adjacent island against any invasion, and expresses, besides, the confident hope that steps taken, in company with the British Cabinet, will lead to such a convention with the United States as to preclude any recurrence, for the future, of similar dangers to the Spanish dependency. Everybody knows the indifferent issue of the overtures made in consequence of the hope so confidently expressed in that letter. NAPOLEON learned that the United States refuse to enter into any convention whatever with European Potentates, to bind themselves for all eternity "not to do something" which, inexpedient and impolitic as it may be now, the next generation may think it prudent and even necessary to accomplish. It is more than probable that the lessons given in that well-known missive of Republican statesmanship to European diplomatists in general, and to the new imperial BONAPARTE in particular, were not out of mind when the orders for SOULE's exclusion from France were issued. And but for England's unwillingness to ally at this particular time, the insult would doubtless have been exceeded by the giver into an unmistakable one, by the immediate dispatch of a British naval squadron to the West Indies. This, however, has been put off until the coming fall at case nearer at home, there is much reason, just now, for [illegible].

The London Correspondent affirmed by the [illegible] that the SOULE affair formed part of [illegible]row's exploratory mission to Paris. [illegible] in a Madrid letter of a later Morning [illegible] that he was not wrongly informed. [illegible] difficulties were "talked [illegible]. The Madrid Correspondent pretends, [illegible] to know that NAPOLEON proposed a [illegible] action in that quarter; but VIRGOUNT [illegible] having remarked that after the [illegible] of Madrid had refused to declare the [illegible] a piracy, the British Government [illegible] hardly feel prompted to any great [illegible] about Spain's firm footing in the Antilles, NAPOLEON concluded the conversation with saying that "in that case, the best for Spain is to sell Cuba if she can sell it." The conversation may be true or apocryphal, though it certainly has much of the air of an [illegible] dialogue, with a concluding "word for effect."

Correct information about the doings in Madrid is a very difficult matter to obtain indeed. Spaniards of all politics abroad, Moderados and Progresistas, Democrats and Aristocrats, all seem to be at a loss about the "what next?" A military dictatorship seems to be the most probable end that affairs will come to. The question is only who of the two leaders, ESPARTERO or O'DONNELL, will procure the ingress and rule in undivided power. The Duke, though the only popular man in the country, seems by no means to have the best chances. He makes himself rusty and quite powerless by surrendering the night to do good to those who are evidently planning only evil. The Marshal has actually succeeded in alienating his best friends, such as GURREA and SALAZAR, who retire disgusted with his irresolution and weakness. Sundry Progressista pronunciamentos are spoken of as in preparation, with ESPARTERO's tacit consent to their being carried out; but those who know most have least faith in them. That party cannot make a coup except by the hand of ESPARTERO himself. It is more likely that the majority of the Congress will, in consequence of an utter absence of any settled Cabinet policy, be broken up more and more, its fractions joining the Democrats and O'Donnellists; and then the Moderados will resume the mastery of the situation. ESPARTERO will make room for his worst enemies, and pride himself on being "the honest man" of his country. CINCINNATUS is, no doubt, a fine type for imitation—and so is WASHINGTON; but one must first have saved dear country before "honest retirement into private life" will be accepted as a meritorious out of the highest civic virtue.

The Spanish constituents are, in the meanwhile, constantly engaged in electing their President and Vice-Presidents. They had already four of them for the first office, and the last chosen, M. MARON, being on the point of becoming Finance Minister, will probably be followed, every week, by a fifth. These elections, and a great deal of holiday-making in honour of some or other Saint, constitute the sum of business transacted by that [illegible]

[illegible] would not have thought [illegible] doubtful struggle to prevent any encroachment upon the feebly-governed territories of the SULTAN. But, backed by Louis NAPOLEON, she ultimately consented to adopt the empty traditional cry of the "balance of power," and so arrange herself on the side of Turkey. But this was not done hurriedly or without calculation. She knew that a European contest would result most probably in enthroning her manufactorial and commercial supremacy throughout the world for many years. She knew that other European nations, even those fighting alongside of her, would be comparatively ruined by success—thus she would be able to secure them as markets for herself. She knew all this, and so repudiated whatever her statesmen and her press had urged against the strange anomaly of supporting the Crescent against the Cross. Herein probably lies concealed the mainspring of the present war policy of England. For this reason she courted, and still courts, the moral power of America in her favor. For this reason we have to thank her for those just concessions which she has lately made us—concessions which, at any other period of her history, she might have refused. And in order that she may not have arrayed against her the moral force of the United States, she is quite willing to pass over, without discussion, the vexed question of neutral vessels. She feels herself, in one word, strong in Europe so long as America does not claim to have any influence in its councils, and her statesmen can scathelessly menace all opposers there. Just so long as this is the case, she will not mind ignoring the past—whether it be the battles of the Crusades or the speeches of her greatest men.

The German Immigration.

It is very satisfactory to know that the Emigrant Aid Association have accomplished so much in introducing sturdy New-England settlers into the Kansas Territory. These may have failed, through the fraud and violence of others, in affecting this election. Still they form a nucleus of honest, industrious, free laborers, who will support Free Labor and not consent to work side by side with slaves. They belong to that restless, intelligent, indomitable family, who somehow seem always to acquire the control of the societies in which they take part.

They and their descendants will in time greatly influence the destiny of that vast commonwealth which is to spring up on those central plains of North America. Still, with all estimation of what these Associations are accomplishing, we must frankly say, that they are not altogether on the right path. No Society could have the means to transport any large resident population from the Eastern States to the Western. It is an enterprise, on any great scale, immensely expensive, and as carried on now, forms only a rivulet into that mighty receptacle of future nations. With all the hundreds of settlers which the generous subscriptions of New-York and Boston may send forth into this new country, what are they compared with the area to be occupied, or even compared with the hordes of border-men who swarm all along the frontier of the Slave States—men ready for any act of adventure or violence which may secure their sorely-pressed Institution? It is beginning now to be understood in all matters of political administration and economy, that we cannot with any advantage apply force to the natural laws of commerce and of society. If the labor and capital of a country tend naturally in one direction, it is found to be unprofitable to lead them into another. The present profit is always more than swallowed up by the future loss. Government monopolies, or prizes, or especial inducements which break the natural currents of business, are discovered to injure the permanent prosperity of the country.

It is at length beginning to be seen that this social machine is an exceedingly delicate and subtle thing; and that, none knows, who begins to interfere in its working where the disarrangement may end. The same principle holds in regard to immigration. We cannot govern the tides of human movement—hardly more than those of the sea. They are controlled by great and permanent laws, back of the apparent motion. All the inducements which the English Government can offer, will never people wornout Ireland, as our district of our western plains is peopled by voluntary immigration. The wealth and valor of the French Nation cannot found one such colony in a half-century in Africa, as grows up without aid in a few years in California. Money and influence may direct currents of emigration—but they can never start them. Even the heroic thought of a crusade for Liberty, can send out but a few scattered hundreds. For any enduring movements, the great laws of human wants are more efficacious, than were the most noble and inspiring sentiments.

We say, then, that the true policy of those Associations in Massachusetts and New-York is not especially to induce New-England or New-York settlers to emigrate, but to turn to Kansas the great currents of German Immigration.

It is well known that hundreds of thousands of German, Norwegian and Danish emigrants come annually to this port alone. A great proportion are laborers in the soil; industrious, steady, and in the main, honest workingmen. They are inured to hard work; accustomed to little, and seem the very men adopted to settle a new country. Of course, very many of these are extremely ignorant of the country, they are poor and incautious—and the result is, that thousands of these laborers who arrive here, are first cheated, then compelled by their poverty to remain and to resort to the poorest street-occupations for a living, until at length they become swallowed up in the masses of poor, filthy, degraded people, who swarm in our lowest quarters.

One who converses with them will find that in general, they were bred up in free air, in [illegible] work in the soil.

Better still, these German peasant-[illegible] are good friends of Liberty. The Bavarian, the Rhinelander, the Prussian, the Bohemian know what is Tyranny. Some have themselves felt the lash and the fetters; and all have felt the shame of Slavery. They have too long seen one class absorbing the unearned means of another class; they have too long struggled against the close bonds of a political mastership, to wish to behold the same system on this free land. Slavery in Austria and Slavery in Kansas will not seem to them two so different institutions.

There is not in the German nature,—and to its praise be it said,—that ignoble quality shown alas! here by some of the Celtic Race, which leads a man who has himself been degraded to inflict the same degradation on others.

The Germans in America, where the question has been presented by itself, and where they have understood it, have been on the side of Liberty. We know of few instances where Germans have been slaveholders, and of but a few Journals which have dared to advocate pro-Slavery doctrines to the German population. In Texas, a Slave State, the Germans have the honor of being the advance guard of Freedom, supporting Anti-Slavery papers and having themselves solved the great problem of raising cotton profitably by free labor.

There are instances, naturally, where the Germans, deceived by a party-name or not all appreciating the question at issue, have voted on the side of the South and her interests; but we do not hesitate to say, that at the present time their enlightened sentiments are with the North, and against the extension of servile labor and laws.

Why should not advantage be taken of all these favorable circumstances, to lead this immigration into the Nebraska-Kansas territories? The Germans are pouring into the country; they are good laborers, fitted in some respects for a new country, and sterling friends of Free Labor. Is it not at once the practical course, to direct these men into this new country, where the great battle of freedom is being fought? There would be little difficulty. Let well-prepared German circulars be scattered about in the principal cities of Germany, and then among the emigrant lodging-houses of this City; let the office of the Emigrants Aid Association be the place where information could be obtained as to the best routes, &c., to the new Territory. Advertisement and articles with information should be put into the leading German newspapers. With some skill and business enterprise, a large emigration might be turned easily and naturally towards this vast unpeopled country.

Then, if the Association had the means, many of these poor peasants landing, or those detained in the City, could be at once forwarded to the same destination, much to the relief of our burdened population. The Commissioners of Emigration would not improbably find it for their interest to contribute for a purpose so directly in their line of effort.

This is but a brief sketch of the detail of this proposed enterprise, yet we do not doubt of its practicability.

We commend it to the earnest attention of the Aid Associations.

There may be one difficulty, which has thus far stood in the way of this proposed action by these societies; we allude to a rather widespread prejudice in the Anglo-Saxon mind against the Germans and German habits. Many good people are in the practice of including all Germans in one class of Sabbath-breaking, beer-drinking, atheistic people; and we have little doubt that something of this prejudice has had an effect on the operations referred to above. If so, we do not hesitate to say that it is an unreasonable, unworthy feeling, and should be laid aside by enlightened men in this age, as soon as possible. If the Germans are unbelieving, so much the more reason for elevating them. Neither their metaphysics nor their social habits will have much connection with their voting against Slavery in Kansas. A whole nation is not to be judged from a few; and, with all their defects, any one who knows our foreigners knows there is not a race among them so industrious, so kindly, and so likely to become adapted to our institutions as the Germans.

"We Have Changed All That."

Before the present complication in the East had assumed the stern realities of war, Lord PALMERSTON declared in the House that he "objected to the policy of making the integrity of Turkish dominion in Europe an object essentially necessary to the interests of Christian and civilized Europe," and even Mr. GLADSTONE, who probably before now has demanded fresh supplies for carrying on the war, confessed that "the integrity and independence of the Ottoman Empire meant something very different from what it would imply, if France, England or any other European power were spoken of." Many other of the leading statesmen of Great Britain, even down Lord STRATFORD DE RADCLIFFE himself, held but a very short time before the commencement of hostilities the same opinion with respect to the policy of admitting Turkey within the limits of what may be called public European law,—that is constituting her a recognized member of the great European family of nations for maintaining the balance of power. The London Times—the leader and fashioner of the opinions of the great majority of Englishmen—and other daily organs, used the same language. Besides all this, during the four centuries that she has been encamped on the borders of European civilization, Turkey has never hitherto been treated as a power having the right to a seat in the great councils of Europe. Even what are called treaties have been with her nothing more in reality than truces. We thus consequently see that up to within a very recent period the preservation of the integrity and independence of the Ottoman Empire was considered as by no means a question involving any of the great interests of Europe, a fact which English writers and statesmen, as we have shown, were very ready to admit less than one short year ago. But now, forsooth, a change has come, and Lord PALMERSTON, who spoke so strongly of the impossibility of recognizing the Sultan's right to protection at the hands of the great powers, is the first to urge the lavish expenditure of treasure and blood to accomplish that, "the essential necessity" of which he would on no account admit a few months back. This change of opinion is very easily, however, accounted for. It is the second thought of a nation.

Turkey formerly ceded certain privileges over some portion of her Christian population to Russia, which possibly exercised these rights in a manner not altogether consistent with the law of the Koran—the great arbitrator of everything Turkish. The Divan, consequently, not only refused to extend these privileges, but even took back what it had previously granted. Turkey certainly had the right to do this, according to the strictest interpretation of the law of nations, at her own peril, her own cost; but she could not in any way claim—even if she had really been recognized as one of the great European Powers—either the moral or active support of the others to shield her from the necessary consequences of her broken faith with Russia. This, there is no doubt, was fully recognized by English statesmen; and unless they had been encouraged in the course they ultimately adopted by the warlike ardor of Louis NAPOLEON, a peace would have been patched up between the Porte and the Emperor NICHOLAS, by a grant of the very concessions he at first demanded, and a great war avoided. The man of the Second of December has thus not only controlled the probable destinies of France, but in some measure even those of other European Powers.

England, at the present day, does not certainly regard the possession of Constantinople by Russia as a matter of vital importance; for she knows well enough that the control of this key of the Dardanelles is insignificant [illegible]

[illegible] that are piled up in the City we so much pride ourselves in. And what Hercules could not do, even Mayor WOOD could not be asked to do. When a [illegible] shirk from his work upon a good plan—he no hold his hat—cheer him, urge him on, and hope patiently till our turn to be relieved shall come. Broadway cleaned from Canal-street to Fulton,—the gutters cut out,—the apple-woman confined to their stands before stores and offices whose occupants "aint proud,"—the beggars all arrested,—the carmen stopped from letting their carts obstruct the highway,—and the police captains all properly adorned with their stars,—we do not doubt our fearless Mayor will see that other streets than Broadway are dug out, and that the dirt heaps which have crowned the heads of all alleys are carted off before Spring. When a man is in earnest, he lays hold of the nearest duty to perform it first. Success to our determined Mayor in all the reforms he girds himself to. When he comes to his promised usurpations, it will be time to rub up our spectacles and look closer at his drift.

Musical.

We are enabled to announce this morning definitively that the concert for the relief of the poor, professed by Madame GRIZI and Signor MARIO, will take place at the Academy of Music on Thursday next, the 11th instant. The programme will be published on Monday—but there is scarcely a need for one. The simple announcement "for the Relief of the Poor" will, to the generous and considerate, be sufficient attraction.

The entire management of the concert has been placed in the hands of a committee of prominent citizens, and to their activity and earnest efforts much of the success of the entertainment will be indebted. The unusual attractiveness of this concert; the great artistes engaged in it, and the charitable motive with which all are actuated, entitle it to the best consideration of our citizens.

Amusements.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—Mr. BUCHANAN made his fourth appearance here last evening in the character of King Lear. Previous to speaking of this performance, we may refer to Mr. BUCHANAN's highly successful debut on Tuesday last in another of SHAKSPEARE's heroes, Hamlet. Throughout this performance there was evidence of deep study, and an unusual appreciation of the metaphysical bearings of the character—often interpreted as contradictions. The performances would have been more enjoyable had it been freer from stage mannerisms, and from a conventional and objectless slowness in the delivery of certain passages. Deliberation is occasionally necessary for the production of strong effects, but it is tedious when indulged with too much prodigality. However, the Hamlet of Mr. BUCHANAN struck us as being a superior performance, and with the audience it was undoubtedly a success. The tragedy was placed on the stage with more care than we usually enjoy here.

The Lear of Mr. BUCHANAN was by no means equal to his initial performance. It is impossible at any time to make the character attractive—for age and passion are repulsive to the sensibilities—it can, however, be rendered powerfully. Although we detected many excellences in Mr. BUCHANAN's rendition, it was, as a whole, unsatisfactory; physical; rampant. From the rising of the curtain to its fall, Lear appeared to be undergoing a slow process of strangulation, and the strange noises and unpleasant effect it produced were, to say the least of it, uncomfortable. The best portion of the effort was the scene with mad Tom. It is but justice to say that Mr. BUCHANAN was indifferently supported.

To-night is the last of the Tragedian's engagement. He appears in "Richard the Third," and afterwards as Sir Charles Coldstream, in the comedietta of "Used Up."

FROM WASHINGTON.

Movements of the Free Traders.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Jan. 4, 1855.

I do not believe any general modification of the Tariff of '46 will be made at the present session of Congress. The result of the Caucus last evening did not disappoint me. There is no unity of sentiment in the dominant party in the House relative to the Tariff. Two-thirds of the members are in favor of some modification, but not one-third of them are ready to vote for the same scheme. If the Committee of Ways and Means would take up Secretary GUTHRIE's bill of last session, and sustain it heartily, it would pass, with some few amendments not affecting its general character. But there is a very positive difference of opinion between the Committee and the Secretary; and the former is committed against the Secretary's proposition, and, it will be remembered, reported a bill at last session of quite a different character from that of Mr. GUTHRIE's.

At the caucus it was found, first, that there was very little enthusiastic interest on the subject of the Tariff; and second, it would be impossible for the members to agree on any measure,—so they adopted a resolution to the effect that the Tariff ought to be altered, but failed to resolve that it should be. I think there is but one chance left for a general modification of the Tariff of '46, at this session; and that is by the Whigs in Congress taking up GUTHRIE's bill, and passing it, with some few amendments, and by the aid of Democratic votes. It will be remembered that Mr. GUTHRIE's bill puts on the free list many articles of raw material, which enter largely into the manufactures of the United States, thus encouraging home labor, without prohibiting the introduction of the foreign fabric. It is this feature which commends the bill to Whigs generally.

If no general Tariff bill is passed, there are various combinations forming, which will be quite likely to repeal the duty on wood and railroad iron, and perhaps on coal. I think the chances of these modifications to be decidedly better than of any other.

Among the names of officers of the Navy who are prominently mentioned to succeed Commodore STRINGHAM in command of the Mediterranean Squadron, is that of Commodore HIRAM PAULDING, now in command of the Navy Yard near this city. The Mediterranean station is a sort of post of honor; and the appointment thereto of Commodore PAULDING would be a graceful tribute by the Administration to a most excellent officer and gentleman,—a worthy son of that worthy sire, who, by the arrest of ANDRE, in the dark hour of our country's hopes, discovered the treason of ARNOLD, and probably saved the little army of Independence from a fatal catastrophe. New-York would hail PAULDING's appointment to the Mediterranean as an honor to herself. It certainly would be an honor to the Executive officer whose duty it is to direct the movements of the Navy,—for there is no one in the service better fitted than the Commodore to discharge the duties of that post, just now peculiarly delicate and important, because of the disturbed condition of affairs in the East.

The Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity held a Convention of Chapters in this city yesterday. Nineteen Chapters, connected with different Colleges or Universities, all over the Union, were represented by one or more delegates. The following are the names of the institutions whose graduates were among the delegates:

Yale College, New-Haven, Ct.; Brunswick College,

What our Mayor is at.

We are in the receipt of a great many letters, notes, epistles of indignation, wrath, remonstrance, from men, women, children "and others," having reference to the unequal working and fitful jerking of the machinery that attempts to put in operation the new Mayor's Broom. One says the police have notified him not to throw orange peel out of his parlor window hereafter, or he will be held liable. Another complains that in his absence from home, a bearded M. P. knocked violently on the door, and told the frightened wife, who opened it to him, that she would be fined if the gutter was not cut clear of ice before night. Another asks Mr. Mayor if he means to excuse the lottery ticket dealers and policy venders from the general surveillance,—seeing that he commands an officer to watch for those violators of the law. Others ask why Broadway, which is the nearest clean of all our streets, should be scratched and scraped daily, while so many other streets are yet innocent of a broom, and are impassable walks to the houses that abut them.

Now, worthy grumblers all, cannot you wait a little? Cannot a man breathe between his achievements? Would you insist that a mere two-armed man have all the hands of Briareus and strike every way at once? If Hercules had been sworn in our Mayor on New Year's day, and upon that day he, instead of Mayor WOOD, had mounted twin lamps before his door, surmounted each with a gilded eagle, Hercules would have needed all his sons to help him abate a tithe of the anni-

LONG ISLAND.

☞ On Tuesday evening, JOHN G. SAXE will deliver his poem—"The Money King"—in the Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn.

DEATH OF A CONSUL.—Died at Marseille, Dec. 10, ROLAND DULBE, Esq., U. S. Consul at that port.

☞ The Detroit Democrat says that of all the dressed hogs which have been sent forward from Detroit to Buffalo, since the close of navigation over the Great Western (Canada) Railway, not one carcass has as yet reached its destination. The cars loaded with pork stand on a side track in Buffalo. The quantity is immense, and as the danger of the spoiling is great, the loss must be heavy.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SILKS, SHAWLS—REDUCTION IN PRICES—AT CONSTANTIAN HALL, No. 251 CHATHAM-ST.—The attention of gentlemen is called to a very large and extensive stock of silk brocade, striped and satin plaid silks which have been produced so much embarrassment previous to the holidays, is now offered at a greater reduction, viz.: from 50c. to $1 for goods which cost to import from 75c. to $1 25 the yd.

Brocade and woolen shawls, 3,000 brocade long and square shawls, from $3 to $12; 1,500 woolen shawls, from $3c. to $6, of the Bay State, and French and Scotch manufacture, as the entire balance of merinoes, de laines, blankets and flannels in large closed out. Dealers bargains are offered.

S. & M. S. TOWLE & CO., No. 251 Chatham-st.

NEW AND VERY WONDERFUL!!—HYGIANA RECENT HOME on your Door or your Mantel.

From the New-York Dutchman of Jan. 1.

A wonderful discovery has been made by Dr. Curtis, of this City, in the treatment of Consumption by Inhalation, and all diseases of the Lungs. We refer to Dr. Curtis's Hygiana, or Inhaling Hygiana Vapor and Chalybeate. With this new method, Dr. C. has cured many persons who came to health, in all cases of which he has been consulted, confidence. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks: "It is evident that inhaling constantly medicated vapor, in the healing vapor, the medicinal properties of the lungs, in red contact with the whole nerval circulation of the lungs, and then through the nerves, the whole system, and thus them when introduced into the stomach, and [illegible] powers of digestion."

The inhaler is worn on the breast, when they [illegible] out the lowest lungs. The heat of the body [illegible] to expand into the cloth.

Hundreds of cases of cures like the following might be [illegible]:

One package of the Hygiana has cured me of a cough of six years' standing. JAS. F. KENNEDY.

I am cured of the Asthma of [illegible] by Dr. Curtis' Hygiana. MARGARET BACON.

Mrs. Paul, of No. 6 Hammond-st., New-York, [illegible] of Consumption, is cured by the Hygiana.

My sister has been cured of a cough of several years' standing, and doubted to be cured of Consumption. She was cured in one month. J. F. GAUVERNEY, P. M.

Prof. S. Comstock, Chemist, [illegible] Cherry Syrup and Hygiana, I now in a state of Curtis' Hygiana and the nearly [illegible] cured in one month. Dr. C. H. RING, corner of Grand and Ludlow-sts., New-York.

Sold by Dr. C. H. RING, corner of Grand and Ludlow-sts., New-York, and by Druggists throughout the City and country. $3 a package.

A YOUNG LADY, WHAT AND WHERE, CURED IN FORTY-ONE HOURS!!—A Lady, residing in Brooklyn, E. D., wrote to Dr. Curtis, of this City, for his Hygiana, and in a weekly [illegible] with a remarkable cure effected by the Hygiana, and the result was, she was enabled to take RADWAY'S REGULATORS, and in forty-one hours from the time of taking these powerful RADWAY'S REGULATORS, the [illegible] REGULATORS operated [illegible] she ate a good breakfast, relieved of pain, [illegible] certain in leaving the natural functions of the [illegible] male or female system, as RADWAY'S REGULATORS and RADWAY'S REGULATORS [illegible] day the lady first used R. R. R. [illegible] weekly. R. R. R. will [illegible] Price is a few minutes; Complete Cure in [illegible] speedily.

N. B.—R. R. R. Remedies are for sale by all Druggists. RADWAY & CO., Proprietors of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF and RENOVATING REGULATORS, No. 162 Fulton-st., up stairs, New-York.

A NEW AND ORIGINAL DISCOVERY HAS just introduced a substitute for Water Gruel, which is a powerful and nutritious food, to which the invalid turns in every instance; it nourishes the system when ordinary food is a sharp edge, it quickly restores it to its wonted style, thus doing away with the use of medicine. Dr. Ellis, in which so much of the time of invalids is spent, is highly recommended by all who have used this delicious food, and it is a most curious interest on the [illegible] Dr. Ellis's Farina, Farina, Farina,

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

MARKET REPORTS.

NEW-YORK CITY BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

COPARTNERSHIP.

INSTRUCTION.

MEDICAL.

DANCING.

FOR SALE.

LONG ISLAND.

FINANCIAL.

INSURANCE.

TO LET.

HOTELS.

FINE ARTS.

FARO PLAYING CARDS.

AUCTION SALES.

DIVIDENDS.

DIVIDENDS.

RAILROADS.

FOR EUROPE.

LEGAL NOTICES.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

ZINC PAINTS.

MACHINERY.

BANK NOTICES.

FOR THE SOUTH.

FOR CALIFORNIA.

New-York Daily Times,

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1855.

[illegible]

[illegible] Friday, Jan. 5.

[illegible] have been sent in to the Legislature [illegible] the expenditure and receipts of the State for the year [illegible] have been $6,056,000; expenditures $5,426,000. Leaving a balance in the Treasury of $1,326,000.

[illegible] the public debt shows an excess of expenditure of $736,000. The statistics show [illegible] during his term of office for the cash expenditure of over $3,000,000; yet the funded debt has been reduced a quarter of a million. He alludes to the vote by the people in relation to prohibition, and remarks that though the vote shows the people to be averse to the measure proposed, it gives no reason for supposing them opposed to a [illegible]

[illegible] in relation of the Licensing Laws. [illegible] of the Message is on the usual local [illegible]

Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, Friday, Jan. 5.

WM. D. KEMPTON, Democrat, of Berks, was elected Speaker of the Senate on the 37th ballot, having fifteen votes. SCHNEAR, (Whig,) had eleven votes; FRAZER, (Whig,) two; DARSIE, (Whig,) [illegible]. PENCE, (Whig,) did not vote.

Maine Legislature.

AUGUSTA, (Me.,) Friday, Jan. 5.

The Legislature of this State to-day elected ANSON P. MORRILL, for Governor.

In the House the vote stood as follows: MORRILL [illegible]; Hamlin 115.

In the Senate Mr. MORRILL received the unanimous vote—29 in all.

The inauguration of Mr. MORRILL will take place to-morrow.

Michigan Legislature.

DETROIT, Thursday, Jan. 4.

ISAAC W. WILSON has been elected Secretary of the Senate of this State; CYRUS LOVEZZ, Speaker, and HENRY SANDERS, Clerk of the House. The usual Resolutions.

[illegible] of both Houses of the Legislature [illegible] of a State Senator.

BOSTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

[illegible] of both Houses elected, to-day, [illegible] W. Lincoln, of Edgartown, State Senator from Dukes and Nantucket Counties. The vote stands as follows: LINCOLN, 309; Mr. BURNEY, of [illegible], 3.

[illegible] Mail—Letter from the Rio Grande.

BALTIMORE, Friday, Jan. 5.

[illegible] of the Southern mail on late so [illegible] have received New-Orleans papers of 31st [illegible]

[illegible] Nicaragua had arrived at New-Orleans, bringing later intelligence from the Rio [illegible]

[illegible] Flag of the 16th inst., publishes [illegible] the official election in Mexico. It [illegible] PONCIANO ARRIAGA, MANUEL GOMEZ, [illegible] MATA, ANDRES TERVINO and M. [illegible]

[illegible] to the revolutionary movements and [illegible] Western Mexico it has the following per[illegible]: [illegible] for the present there is quiet, [illegible] long it will remain so, time alone can [illegible]

CARVAJAL arrived at Brownsville a few [illegible] and papers says he will soon head [illegible] organized on a new and liberal [illegible]

Mail Robbery.

SAVANNAH, Friday, Jan. 5.

[illegible] no mail this morning south of Wash[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

[illegible] from points south of Philadelphia has [illegible] here to-day.

[illegible] of the U. S. Steamship America at [illegible]—Departure for Liverpool.

HALIFAX, Friday, Jan. 5.

U. S. Mail Steamship America arrived here from [illegible] at 5 o'clock this morning, and sailed at 7 [illegible] for Liverpool.

[illegible] very, truly, [illegible]

Anti-Slavery Petition.

BOSTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

An Anti-Slavery petition has been drawn up, addressed to the Massachusetts Senate and House, [illegible] the passage of the law "That any person who [illegible] in arresting, holding, or returning a fugitive slave, [illegible] United States Judge, Commissioner, Marshal, Deputy Marshal, or in any other capacity whatsoever, or even as a private citizen, shall be forever ineligible of acting as a juror in any Court of this State, or of holding any office of trust, honor, or emolument, whether such office be a State, county, city or town office, unless relieved from such disqualification by a pardon; and also to punish by fine and imprisonment any claimant of an alleged slave, or any aider or abettor of such claimant, who shall attempt to remove such alleged slave from this State, without his first having a jury trial on the question of his slavery or freedom.

Accident to the Victoria Bridge, over the St. Lawrence.

BOSTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

The road way of the Victoria Bridge, over the St. Lawrence River, was carried away by the ice, but no injury whatever was done to the stone abutments, or the stone piers, which remain firm as the solid rock, and prove the security and stability of the structure. The newspaper reports of damage to the permanent structure are entirely unfounded.

Steerage Marine Disaster.

BOSTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

The British bark Prince Arthur, bound from Malaga for New-York, was off Singapore on the 20th October in a sinking condition, having ten feet of water in her hold. She had sent to Singapore for assistance, and a steamer proceeded in search of her, but had not returned on the 4th of November. The crew of the Prince Arthur is insured in New-York and Boston for $600,000.

The new ship Acorn, built at Waldoboro, was destroyed by fire at Muscongus, ten miles below Waldoboro, on the 24 inst.

Railroad Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Jan. 5.

Two freight trains on the Camden and Amboy Railroad, near Bordentown, came in collision this evening. No one was injured, but the trains were delayed. The Pilot line backed to Trenton, and will have come to the city by the Trenton Road.

Philadelphia Money Market.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Jan. 5.

At our first Board to-day, Stocks were rather heavy, with limited sales, at the following rates: Reading Railroad, 36¾; Morris Canal, 12¾; Long Island Railroad, 12¾; Pennsylvania Railroad, 42¾; Pennsylvania State 6's, 91.

Arrival of the City of Manchester.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Jan. 5.

The screw steamship City of Manchester, from Liverpool on the 20th ult., is coming up the river. She brings 210 passengers.

Cotton Market Steadily.

CHARLESTON, (S. C.,) Friday, Jan. 5.

It is now believed that the Southern mail difficulty will soon be settled. The Post-Office Department have made an offer to the South Carolina Railroad Company, which will be accepted, provided the schedule should be satisfactory.

Postponement of Church by Fire.

BALTIMORE, Friday, Jan. 5.

The New Wilkins Church, on Eutaw, street, was destroyed by fire this morning at 2 o'clock. The Church was valued at $19,000, and was lately repaired. It was insured for $4,000 on the building and $2,000 on the organ.

Death of Hon. Ira Bellows.

BOSTON, Friday, Dec. 3.

Hon. IRA BELLOWS, of Pittsford, who has held many posts of honor in this State, died this evening, while waiting in the Railroad Depôt here for the cars to convey him home.

Arrival of the Nashville at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, Friday, Jan. 5.

The steamer Nashville arrived at her wharf at 7 o'clock this afternoon.

NEW-YORK CITY.

CITY POLITICS.

The Young Men's Whig General Committee, for 1855.

The Delegates to the Young Men's Whig General Committee for the year 1855 assembled at the Broadway House last evening. The attendance was large and the feeling enthusiastic. At the hour designated in the call, the Committee organized informally by the choice of JOHN LALOR, Esq., of the Tenth Ward, Chairman, and Mr. DANIEL BOWLEY as Secretary. The roll was called, and seventy-eight members answering to their names, they proceeded to organize permanently by the election of a new President. There were several candidates, but Judge WELSH, the last year's Chairman, finally received a large majority, and was declared elected.

On motion, his election was made unanimous.

The next ballot was taken for Vice-Chairmen and other officers, which resulted in the election of THOMAS C. ACTON, (Fifteenth Ward,) first Vice-Chairman.

Dr. F. C. VAN WYCK, (Sixth Ward,) second Vice-Chairman.
JAMES E. BOERN, (Fifth Ward,) Treasurer.
AUGUSTUS BROWN, (Twenty-second Ward,) Recording Secretary.
JACOB CROWELL, (Ninth Ward,) Corresponding Secretary.

The organization was effected in perfect harmony, and the Committee adjourned for the month.

Our New Council—A Suggestion.

One of the newly-elected Councilmen presented the following resolution, memorial, or whatever it is, at last night's session. Its suggestions are important:

NEW YORK Jany 5th 1855

To the honourable Boddy the Mayor Aldermen and Comonalty of the City of New York Where as the Mayor has issude his Orders to the police Department to arrest all persons that Would be found throughing ashes or garbage in the streets let us now ask the question what are the gutting to do with it When it is a well known fact that there are tenant ebie houses in this city that Contains Twenty familyes and some of them has Not Vessells to Con taine sufficient Water for there owen use therfore as Every act that would Create inboes and Clotenses throughout the City Should be in cardity Comply ds with I would ask this honourable Board to have Boxes of Suitable Size Built and placed in Such Streets as the are required and that Men living in Such districts that is in Need of Employment Be Employed to do the Same work and that people having Such Boxes placed in front of there dwellings Shall Sweep and Keep Clean there Side walks Every day

Signed JOHN HART 22nd distrit.

Refusal of the Mayor to Accept a Stage-Pass.

Yesterday afternoon a letter was received by Mayor WOOD, from the Proprietor of a Broadway line of stages, enclosing a season ticket for free passage. The Mayor, not wishing to compromise his official dignity, immediately returned the ticket to its donor, accompanied by the following note:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Friday, Jan. 5, 1855.

GENT'LEMEN: I beg leave to return to you the enclosed season ticket, which you were so kind as to present me for a free passage on your line of stages, and to add that, though appreciating the compliment and the kind feeling intended, yet I cannot accept it without violating a rule which I have established for the government of my private conduct while holding this office.

I desire to be left entirely independent, unbiased by the reception of any favors from those over whose interests my public duties may call me to act. I have refused all similar offers from others, and shall in no manner avail myself of them while Mayor. Very respectfully,

FERNANDO WOOD, Mayor.

The Mayor's Complaint Book.

The new Complaint Book of Mayor WOOD is becoming very popular with the people, and yesterday the following complaints were made to persons from all parts of the City:

The occupant of No. 256 Fulton-street complains of the Street Contractor for not removing the coal ashes in front of his door for the last ten days.

The resident of No. 3 Bond-street complains that Bond-street has not been cleaned for at least a month.

A complaint was made by a citizen that the sidewalk, corner of Broadway and Houston-street, is impassable, it having been torn up for the last two years.

A complaint was made against JAMES LEONARD, a backman, for encumbering the streets adjoining No. 50 Laight-street with heaps of dirt, &c.

The occupants of Nos. 21, 23 and 25 Catherine-street complains that the said street has not been cleaned for the past six months, on the Seventh Ward side.

Complaints were made of holes in the sidewalks in ANTHONY, Duane and Reade-streets.

A complaint of nuisance was made against the Third-avenue Railroad Company, for having a wooden shanty erected at the lower end of the Park.

An occupant of No. 20 Warren-street complains that said street has not been cleaned below Church-street for several months, and is now in a very filthy condition.

Fashionable Hotel Parties.

During the holidays the first of the pleasant social parties, or Hops, at the leading hotels, was given at the Astor House, and was followed a few evenings since by a similar entertainment at the Metropolitan. They were both delightful occasions to the guests of the two houses, and to their invited friends: unmarked by ostentatious display, but distinguished by elegance and hearty social enjoyment. The hosts did the honors of the entertainment, in the dining halls, with a liberality which spoke a generous welcome. The St. Nicholas will soon follow in this pleasant line of Winter reunions, of course. The custom has obtained decided popularity of late years.

A Peter Funk Compelled to Disgorge.

Yesterday morning a venerable gentleman from the interior of this State, named ABRAHAM DICKINSON, came before Mayor WOOD and stated that a "Peter" in Broadway had victimized him to the tune of $55, in payment for a worthless brass watch, which was represented to him as pure gold, sixteen carats fine. The Mayor gave the case his immediate attention, and in less than half an hour the Mock Auctioneer was brought to the office and compelled to disgorge the ill-gotten funds. The old countryman was vastly pleased to recover.

Broadway Fashionables.

Quite a sensation was created in Broadway yesterday, by the appearance on promenade of two young gentlemen attired in the extreme fashion. Their "Shanghai" coats—one of which was made of calico, and the other of cloth of different colors—neatly patched—were unique. The parties were the "observed of all observers," but smoked their cigars—"short-sizes"—and chatted with the most perfect sang froid.

Forgery on the Grocers' Bank.

EDWARD THAYER, a clerk in the employ of Mr. PETER DUBYNE, No. 216 Greenwich-street, was arrested yesterday, charged with forging a check on the Grocers' Bank for the sum of $47 60. It was drawn in the name of his employer, and detected when presented at the Bank for payment. The accused confessed the crime and was committed for trial by Justice OSBORNE.

Another Appointment by the Registrar.

Yesterday Mr. JOHN J. DOANE added to his list of appointments in the Register's office, by the appointment of CHARLES FAILER in the Recording Department. Mr. FAILER immediately entered upon the duties of his office.

☞ Auction Sales, notices of, on 4th page.

☞ Advertisements intended for insertion should be handed in before 12 o'clock.

☞ The day yesterday was beautiful. Mild as May, and as cheerful and sunny. During the evening, which was beautiful, there could not have been a more enjoyable season at this time of year.

[Advertisement.]

A PAIR OF PICTURES AS LARGE AS LIFE.—A couple of gentlemen engaged in making pictures, who keep a lofty establishment in Broadway, have advertised within the past few weeks as copied below. We place their palpable contradictions side by side, and leave the public to judge whether soliciting patronage by such means is likely to add to the dignity of art or the honor of the men who do it:

LOOK ON THIS PICTURE.

In Tribune, Dec. 2, 1854.

"The attention of the public is called to our new style of Daguerreotypes on PAPER, which in all cases the 5th size far surpassing, in depth of tone and brilliancy, the most finished painting on canvas.

AND ON THIS.

In Tribune, Dec. 14, 1854.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY!—PHOTOGRAPHIC OIL PAINTINGS ON CANVAS.—The undersigned have just patented their new process for taking photographic impressions ON CANVAS, and are NOW PREPARED TO TAKE THEM IN THIS City.

Notwithstanding these remarkable assertions, there is an artist in the same block, ROOT, No. 363 Broadway, who makes life-size Photographs, not on paper only, but directly from the glass to the canvas, thus producing a picture as much superior to the paper and canvas combinations as can be imagined. Photographs of every size, on paper or on canvas, as desired. The above remarkable advertisers ask the public to examine their work. We hope they will do so thoroughly. Said a Judge one day to a culprit: "Never mind, I'll see that you have justice." "Ah! your Honor," said the fellow, "that's just what I'm afraid of."

[Advertisement.]

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

Your public institutions are not the only "lions" of your City. During a stay of some weeks in New York, I have been a frequent visitor—as a pupil—at the writing rooms of Mr. OLIVER B. GOLDSMITH, No. 202 Broadway, where the most successful teacher of penmanship in this country dispenses his valuable instruction until all the attractive elegance that a refined taste can desire; his splendid suite of five apartments, terminating in a music room—where there is a magnificent and costly piano for the use of his pupils—probably constitutes the most splendid private academy in this country. Here a fine hand may be acquired with absolute certainty in a series of class lessons—the charge for which is almost nominal; or, in a course of private tuition, for which the facilities are unequaled. Here, too, Book-keeping is taught on an improved plan, which soon converts the mere tyro in figures into an accurate practical accountant, fit for any counting-house, and capable of grasping any class of monetary transactions, however extended or diverse.

Mr. GOLDSMITH'S reputation as a teacher is co-extensive with the Union, and I am free to say that it is deserved. Previous to taking lessons from him, I thought my hand a fair one, but it has now a regularity and finish that put to shame my former penmanship, while the rapidity of execution has been, at least doubled.

It gives me great pleasure to render this tribute to Mr. GOLDSMITH and his establishment; and I cannot, I am sure, do a better service to inferior writers and accountants than by advising them to take a course of Penmanship and Book-keeping, at No. 202 Broadway.

A STRANGER IN NEW-YORK.

[Advertisement.]

☞ In order to prevent any misapprehension on the part of the numerous patrons of Messrs. HEARD, CLAFF & Co., No. 201 Grand-street, as to the time of closing this Establishment, we are requested to give notice of the continuation of these sales until the 1st of February next. The ladies having been so accustomed for the past two months of purchasing at this establishment all rich Dress Goods at half their value, they begin to look at the dissolution of this firm almost as a public calamity. The original intention of these gentlemen was to close the business on the 1st inst., but from a combination of circumstances which all our readers understand, and but few regret, the same and greater inducements are offered to purchasers, until the above mentioned time. Those who have not taken advantage of the great reduction of prices in the sales of these rich and desirable goods, have yet another opportunity that should not be neglected.

[Advertisement.]

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY!—PHOTOGRAPHIC OIL PAINTINGS ON CANVAS.—The undersigned have just patented their new process for taking photographic impressions on canvas, and are now prepared to take them in this City. The correctness of delineation and beauty of these paintings, which are produced with two short sittings, and at trifling expense, can only be fully appreciated by examination. Faithful life size portraits made by this process from daguerreotypes of deceased persons. Our other various styles of colored Parisian photographs taken as usual, and at no other establishment in America. J. GURNEY & C. D. FERBRICHE, No. 349 Rue Rivoli du Rempart, Paris, and No. 348 Broadway, New-York.

[Advertisement.]

☞ WORTH MORE THAN ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD, consequently not sold nor left on commission anywhere. For sore eyes, deafness, cold in the head, headache, and the worst forms of catarrh. DURNO'S Catarrh Snuff has proved decidedly the most valuable discovery of the age. Prepared only by DURNO, 83 State-street, Albany, N. Y. A sample box, with directions, will be sent any distance not exceeding 3,000 miles through the Post-Office free, on receipt of thirty-one cents in stamps or specie.

[Advertisement.]

☞ Mme. DEMOREST'S Emporium of Fashion, No. 375 Broadway, N. Y., and 179 Fulton-st., Brooklyn. During January and February, waist-patterns cut at 12½ cents. The art of scientific dress-cutting taught at half the usual terms—$1 25.

[Advertisement.]

GAS! GAS!—GAS FIXTURES of new designs and unsurpassed workmanship, will be found at the great manufacturing depôt of ARCHER, WARNER & Co., No. 376 Broadway; also, a new portable gas apparatus, designed for country residences, churches or factories.

[Advertisement.]

FOSTER, DIXON & Co. give lessons in Writing, Arithmetic and Book-keeping, day and evening, at No. 246 Broadway, (Appleton's Building,) where gentlemen are qualified for the counting-house, in an expeditious and superior manner.

[Advertisement.]

KANSAS SETTLEMENT COMPANY—To-night, at 7½ o'clock, a meeting will be held at No. 192 Bowery, Military Hall. Members will be taken who wish to settle West. The public are invited to attend.

[Advertisement.]

"HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM."—Over 500 applications in December; every one under treatment has been cured or very much benefited.

J. DURNO, Albany, N. Y.

[Advertisement.]

MR. JOHN R. SCOTT IN TWO PIECES TO-DAY.—This distinguished actor appears to-day in two popular pieces at Barnum's Museum. He gives us his thrilling character of St. Pierre in "The Wife," this afternoon, and Rob Roy this evening. He is to be assisted too by such eminent talent as that of Mr. C. W. CLARKE, HADAWAY, Miss MESTAYER, &c. Well worth witnessing!

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

Contents for Saturday, Jan. 6.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.
CORRESPONDENCE—Letters from Washington, on Col. Kinney's Central American Project.
LETTERS FROM THE SOUTHWEST.
LETTER FROM ACAPULCO—The African Slave-Trade on the coast of Mozambique.
LATEST NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF EUROPE—The Queen's Speech and the Austrian Treaty.
INTERESTING FROM THE WEST INDIES AND CHINA.
LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.
EDITORIALS—The Dead Year—European View of Cuban Annexation—The Visit Debated—The News by the Atlantic—The Hard Times in Real Estate—Plain Words to Mechanics—An Old Cry Heard Again—How Col. Steptoe is Reasoned in Utah—Congressional—The Governor's Message—San Francisco—Newly Born—News Items—The Foreign News—News by the Star of the West—Jottings into Upper the Coast.
SUMMARY of the Events of the Year 1854.
WEEKLY SUMMARY of News in the United States, domestic, &c.
COMMERCIAL.—A fully prepared statement of the Stock, Produce and Money transactions of the week, prepared expressly for this paper. Weekly Statement of the Banks of the City of New-York.
THE WEEKLY TIMES is published on Saturday, at the low price of Two Dollars per annum, in advance, for single copies; Five copies for $9 50; Ten copies for $18, with an extra copy for every club of ten copies; Twenty copies for $35, with an extra copy for every club of twenty; Fifty copies for $80, with an extra copy for every club of fifty; and Twenty-five dollars for each additional fifty, or fractional part of fifty. Two copies for one year, to one Post-Office Address, Single copy for one year, in wrappers ready for mailing, at 6¼ cents each.

☞ The postage on this paper to any part of the United States, is 26 cents per annum, and within the State of New-York is 13 cents. Published by RAYMOND, HARPER & CO., No. 128 Nassau-st.

INSTINCT IN ART.—Mr. RUSKIN lecturing again on Saturday evening on "Decorative Art," laid great stress upon the value of "instinct" to the artist. The other day he was seated by the side of one of the greatest living painters of fruit pieces, Mr. HUNT, and in reply to a question put to him as to why he put on a certain color which appeared to lay against all rules, he said he did not know, he thought it would look well. We were told as a rule that there were three primary colors—red, blue and yellow—and that these primaries should occur in every composition in certain proportions, that these three colors always existed in a ray of light in the proportions of 8, 5, and 3, and that in these proportions the colors neutralized each other, and produced white light. Then said the scientific gentleman, "Because these colors will occur in a ray of light, you should always put them into your color compositions in just such a manner as that each color may be neutralized by its neighbor." Were there not also acids and alkalies in chemistry which neutralized each other? and would it not be excessively reasonable for a man to say to his cook, "Whenever you squeeze a lemon in my veal put a pinch of magnesia with it in order that the alkali may neutralize the acid." Could anything be more preposterous than such a law? "There," said the lecturer, producing at the same time an orange, "is as fine a yellow as you can have." If the scientific man were asked what colors should be introduced with it in a composition, he would reply, "Well, sight of red and five of blue." But what said nature? She gave neither red nor blue, but placing the orange in the midst of bright green leaves, enabled you to look on one of the most beautiful and pleasing of pictures—an orange tree. Look, too, at the beautiful little sky-blue flowers of the gentian. Did nature give that sight of blue, five of red, and a touch of yellow? No such thing. There were the green grass, the white lilies of the valley, and the grey rock, but not a touch of red nor yellow, yet that modest flower always looked beautiful.

A YANKEE ON THE RAILROAD.—It is said that the Highlanders in Canada wept when they trod upon Scotch heather, and that when a Swiss soldier hears his native airs in a foreign country he is affected to tears. All men like to hear the music of their vernacular. Even the true born Yankee, like ourself, direct from Taunton, sometimes feels similar emotions. The other day we took a short ride upon the Railroad. All at once the train came to a stand—a raw-boned Yankee (we took him to be Peleg Sass, the brother of Job Sass,) demanded the reason. On being told that we were on a side track, awaiting for another train, he pushed up the window, and projected his head and half his body to see what was the matter. "By golly!" said he, "there she comes, licky-ty-swinxel!" When the train began to pass he held his breath till the last car had passed. Then he pushed half his body again out of the window and watched the receding train. At length he drew in his anaconda frame and drawing a long breath, he broke the silence, "By gosh all firelocks—no wonder that people is skeered to ride on the Railroad."—Toledo Blade.

☞ The expedition against Venezuela which sailed from New-York so mysteriously, some time since, consisting of the steamer Ben Franklin and the bark Catherine Augusta, is left in a very ridiculous posture by the failure of the Venezuelan insurrection, to aid which it was sent out. At the last dates the vessels were at St. Thomas, where they had only been a few days, when news arrived of the suppression of the rebellion and the arrest of its chief.

A NEW KIND OF DUEL.—The New-Orleans Crescent says that a Frenchman, thinking his honor damaged by another Frenchman's insult, challenged the insulter to fight. The challenged having the choice of weapons, and standing in wholesome dread of "bullets and blades," as Bob Acres says, chose hoop-poles. Of course the fight came off with the selected tools, and the wounded honor of each was healed by having his body, head and shoulders badly bruised.

AN UNLUCKY ELOPEMENT.—Near Amherstburg, Canada, a few days ago, a married man was eloping with a young woman, when their sleigh was overturned. The girl's neck was broken, causing her instant death; the man suffered a fracture of the leg, and was taken to a hotel in Amherstburg, where his wife is now kindly attending him, in fulfillment of her marriage vow.

MARRIED.

In this City, on New-Year's eve, by Rev. Wm. H. McAllister, Mr. JOSIAH KYLE to Miss MARY A. JOHNSON, all of this City.

☞ Pennsylvania papers please copy.

In this City, on the 4th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. James Millett, D. D., Mr. HORACE B. HALEY to Miss ANN JANE, only daughter of Charles Benson, Esq., all of this City.

At Bellows Falls, Vt., on Wednesday, Jan. 3, at Immanuel Church, by Rev. Dr. Clap, LEWIS C. FOREMAN, of New-York, to ANNIE J., daughter of Alexander Fleming, Esq., of the former place.

At Elmira, N. Y., on Wednesday, Jan. 3, by Rev. Wm. Lunt, Mr. GELANDO W. JOSLYN, of New-York, to Miss AMELIA L. MORGAN, of the former place.

DIED.

In this City, on Friday, Jan. 5, in the 21d year of her age, at her residence, No. 3 Depeyster, SILVIE DE GRASSE DA PAM, widow of the late Francis Depeyster, and only surviving daughter of the late Admiral Count de Grasse.

Her friends, and those of her family, are requested to attend her funeral, from St. Ann's Church, Eighth-st., near 4th-av., at 2 o'clock P. M., on Sunday, the 7th inst.

In this City, on Wednesday, Jan. 3, suddenly, MARTHA M., wife of Benjamin A. Mumford.

Funeral services at the Church of the Ascensation, 14th-st., between 6th and 7th-avs., on Sunday, at 2 o'clock P. M. Relatives and friends of the family will attend at the house, No. 59 West 14th-st.

In this City, on Friday, Jan. 5, MRS. ELIZA MCMURTRIE, widow of the late William M. McMurtrie.

Her friends and acquaintances, and those of her brother, Thomas Gray, are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from her late residence, No. 252 28th-st., on Sunday, the 7th inst., at 12½ o'clock.

In Brooklyn, on Friday, Jan. 5, after a lingering illness, SUSAN ANN, only daughter of B. R. and A. M. Tilt, in the 12th year of her age.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, at the residence of her parents, No. 1 Hanson-place, Brooklyn, on Sunday, 7th inst., at 2 o'clock. Her remains will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery.

At Jersey City, on Friday, Jan. 5, of scarlet fever, EDWIN F. EYNARD, only son of Isaac S. and Caroline Eynard, aged 3 years and 10 days.

The friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral, on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from their residence, No. 52 Paron-st., place, without further invitation.

In Boston, on Tuesday, Jan. 2, Mrs. MELINDA YALE, wife of Rev. Dr. Rollin H. Neale and second daughter of the late Wm. Yale, of Meriden, Conn., aged 43.

At Somerville, N. J., on Thursday, Jan. 4, of consumption, JAMES H. UNDERHILL, in the 21st year of his age.

In this City, on Thursday, Jan. 4, FRANCIS, youngest son of Joseph S. and Harriet D. Myers.

The friends of the family and his grandfathers, John De Lamater and John D. Myers, are invited to attend the funeral, on Saturday, the 6th inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., from the residence of his parents, No. 347 West 23d-st., without further invitation.

COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

For Markets See Sixth Page.

Sales at the Stock Exchange.....JAN. 5.

$2,000 New-York 6s, '76	99	200	Erie Railroad		30
3,000 Missouri 6s	84	50	do	600	30
11,000 Virginia 6s	93	50	do	600	30
24,000 do	93	50	do	600	30
3,000 Indiana State 5s	75	50	do	b15	30
2,000 Harlem 1st Mtg. 6s	104	200	do		30
20,000 do	100	50	do		30
3,000 Erie bds of '82, c'ms	91	100	do		30
1,000 Ill Cen. R. R. bds	84	100	do		30
5,000 do	83	200	do	b30	30
1,000 N. Y. Cen RR bds	85	50	do	s10	30
6 Bank of America	106½	100	do		30
34 Phenix Bank, ex div	105	50	do	b30	30
15 Del. & H. Canal Co.	106½	200	Harlem Railroad		31
47 Ocean Bank	98	200	do		30
80 U. S. Trust Co	99	200	do		30
10 Canton Co.	52	200	do		30
200 Nicaragua Transit Co	15½	50	New-Jersey Railroad		112
200 do	15	50	do		112
50 do	15	200	Reading Railroad, cash		34
50 do	15	50	do		34
100 do	15	200	do		34
100 do	15	200	Hudson River R. R.		39
100 do	15	50	do		39½
200 Gold Hill Mines	1	50	do	b10	39
10 N. Y. Cen. R. R.	94	75	do		39
100 do	94	50	Mich. Cent. R. R.		80
100 do	94	5	do		80
100 do	94	100	do		80
100 do	94	100	Pan. R. R., cash		74
100 do	94	100	do		74
200 Erie Railroad	29	100	Gal. & Chi. R. R.		85
50 do	29	100	do		85
200 do	29	100	do		85
200 do	29	50	Cleve. & Toledo R. R.		71
200 do	29	50	Chi. & Rock Isl'd R. R.		72
100 do	29	50	do		72

SECOND BOARD.

$500 Virginia 6s	93	200	Erie Railroad		30
7,000 Missouri 6s	87	50	do	s10	30
1,000 Erie Income Bds	92	100	do	60	30
1,000 Erie Conv. Bds '71	95	100	do		30
200 Nicar. Transit Co	15	200	Harlem Railroad		30
200 do	15	200	do	b60	30
50 do	15	200	do		30
100 do	15	50	Reading Railroad		34
50 N. Y. Central R. R.	94	100	do		34
100 do	94	100	do		34
100 Cumb'l Coal Co.	30	100	do		34
100 do	30	100	Hudson Riv. R. R.		39
100 do	30	100	do		39
100 do	30	100	do		39
100 do	30	100	do		39
100 do	30	100	do		39
5 Mich. Cen. R. R.	80	50	Galena & Chi. R. R.		90
20 Illinois Cen. R. R.	86	81

☞ Pennsylvania papers please copy.

In this City, on the 4th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. James Millett, D. D., Mr. HORACE B. HALEY to Miss ANN JANE, only daughter of Charles Benson, Esq., all of this City.

At Bellows Falls, Vt., on Wednesday, Jan. 3, at Immanuel Church, by Rev. Dr. Clap, LEWIS C. FOREMAN, of New-York, to ANNIE J., daughter of Alexander Fleming, Esq., of the former place.

At Elmira, N. Y., on Wednesday, Jan. 3, by Rev. Wm. Lunt, Mr. GELANDO W. JOSLYN, of New-York, to Miss AMELIA L. MORGAN, of the former place.

DIED.

In this City, on Friday, Jan. 5, in the 21d year of her age, at her residence, No. 3 Depeyster, SILVIE DE GRASSE DA PAM, widow of the late Francis Depeyster, and only surviving daughter of the late Admiral Count de Grasse.

Her friends, and those of her family, are requested to attend her funeral, from St. Ann's Church, Eighth-st., near 4th-av., at 2 o'clock P. M., on Sunday, the 7th inst.

In this City, on Wednesday, Jan. 3, suddenly, MARTHA M., wife of Benjamin A. Mumford.

Funeral services at the Church of the Ascensation, 14th-st., between 6th and 7th-avs., on Sunday, at 2 o'clock P. M. Relatives and friends of the family will attend at the house, No. 59 West 14th-st.

In this City, on Friday, Jan. 5, MRS. ELIZA MCMURTRIE, widow of the late William M. McMurtrie.

Her friends and acquaintances, and those of her brother, Thomas Gray, are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from her late residence, No. 252 28th-st., on Sunday, the 7th inst., at 12½ o'clock.

In Brooklyn, on Friday, Jan. 5, after a lingering illness, SUSAN ANN, only daughter of B. R. and A. M. Tilt, in the 12th year of her age.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, at the residence of her parents, No. 1 Hanson-place, Brooklyn, on Sunday, 7th inst., at 2 o'clock. Her remains will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery.

At Jersey City, on Friday, Jan. 5, of scarlet fever, EDWIN F. EYNARD, only son of Isaac S. and Caroline Eynard, aged 3 years and 10 days.

The friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral, on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from their residence, No. 52 Paron-st., place, without further invitation.

In Boston, on Tuesday, Jan. 2, Mrs. MELINDA YALE, wife of Rev. Dr. Rollin H. Neale and second daughter of the late Wm. Yale, of Meriden, Conn., aged 43.

At Somerville, N. J., on Thursday, Jan. 4, of consumption, JAMES H. UNDERHILL, in the 21st year of his age.

In this City, on Thursday, Jan. 4, FRANCIS, youngest son of Joseph S. and Harriet D. Myers.

The friends of the family and his grandfathers, John De Lamater and John D. Myers, are invited to attend the funeral, on Saturday, the 6th inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., from the residence of his parents, No. 347 West 23d-st., without further invitation.

COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

For Markets See Sixth Page.

Sales at the Stock Exchange.....JAN. 5.

$2,000 New-York 6s, '76	99	200	Erie Railroad		30
3,000 Missouri 6s	84	50	do	600	30
11,000 Virginia 6s	93	50	do	600	30
24,000 do	93	50	do	600	30
3,000 Indiana State 5s	75	50	do	b15	30
2,000 Harlem 1st Mtg. 6s	104	200	do		30
20,000 do	100	50	do		30
3,000 Erie bds of '82, c'ms	91	100	do		30
1,000 Ill Cen. R. R. bds	84	100	do		30
5,000 do	83	200	do	b30	30
1,000 N. Y. Cen RR bds	85	50	do	s10	30
6 Bank of America	106½	100	do		30
34 Phenix Bank, ex div	105	50	do	b30	30
15 Del. & H. Canal Co.	106½	200	Harlem Railroad		31
47 Ocean Bank	98	200	do		30
80 U. S. Trust Co	99	200	do		30
10 Canton Co.	52	200	do		30
200 Nicaragua Transit Co	15½	50	New-Jersey Railroad		112
200 do	15	50	do		112
50 do	15	200	Reading Railroad, cash		34
50 do	15	50	do		34
100 do	15	200	do		34
100 do	15	200	Hudson River R. R.		39
100 do	15	50	do		39½
200 Gold Hill Mines	1	50	do	b10	39
10 N. Y. Cen. R. R.	94	75	do		39
100 do	94	50	Mich. Cent. R. R.		80
100 do	94	5	do		80
100 do	94	100	do		80
100 do	94	100	Pan. R. R., cash		74
100 do	94	100	do		74
200 Erie Railroad	29	100	Gal. & Chi. R. R.		85
50 do	29	100	do		85
200 do	29	100